Ulaanbaatar, December 2020. The first time I discovered Mongolian soil.
The black charcoal smokes above the yurts contrasting with the white that covers a thin layer of these cold-dried herbs.I did not know it yet, but this ground on which I am, will become my home for the following months.

After more than 1000 games played in this country, each place still amazes me just as much. This has been the homeland during my long days of confinement. So I have decided to pass on all my knowledge so that you too will no longer be afraid of going to meet the endless steppes.

I am far from being a good teacher, but I will try to make this guide as fun as possible. There will be challenges to better understand the map. From my point of view, I find Mongolia to be an extremely fun country to play in Geoguessr, and I will try to pass this on to you.

For the occasion, I created a Mongolia map with only 5kable points. :
A better Mongolia: https://www.geoguessr.com/maps/607491237d8fdc00012993cb
But I still encourage you to play the Geoguessr map or the Mapper map, because you will be given more locations (not 5kables) but in super beautiful places.

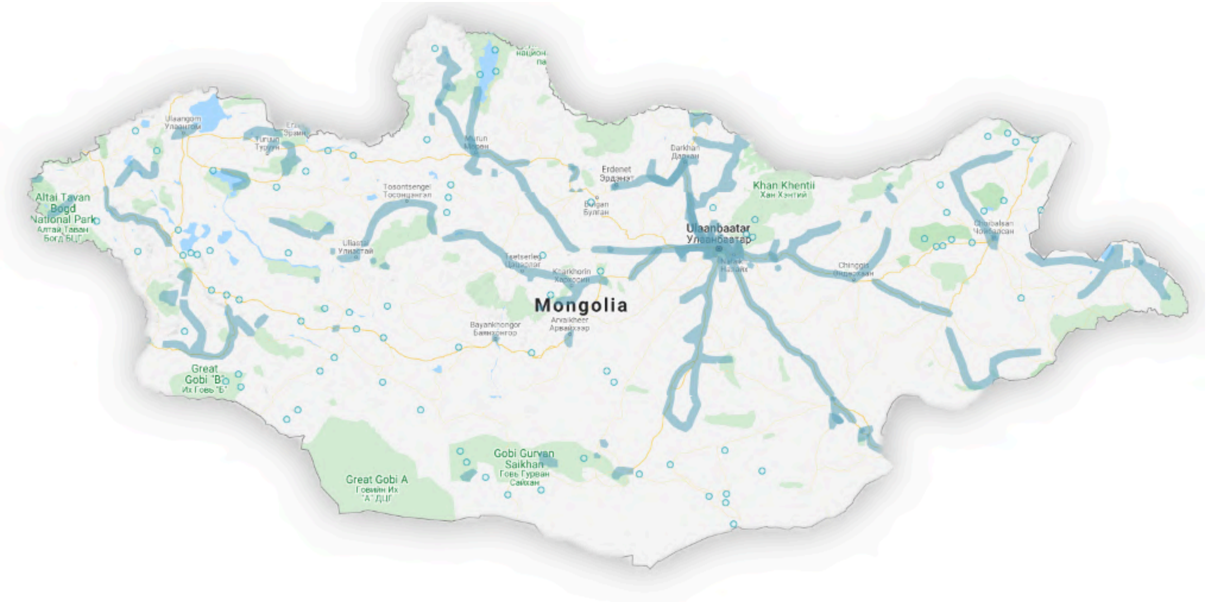
Note from Dylan2Dank, translator. 173

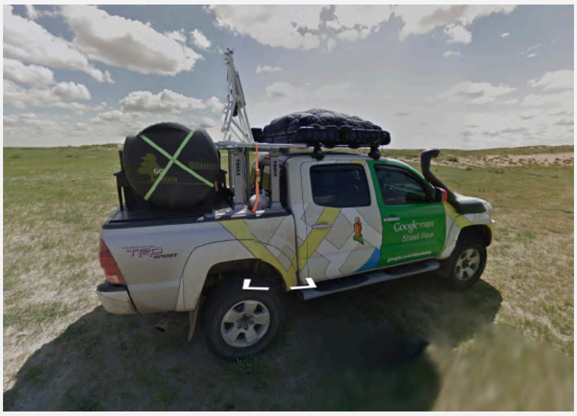
1. Knowing about StreetView (SV) coverage

The first essential thing to know is SV coverage. Without this it will be difficult for you to determine the different areas. Don't worry, the next chapters and exercises will teach you how to spot areas more easily. There is no secret, you have to play!



Altai Tavan Bogd National Park
Ulaanbaatar
Khan Khentii
Mongolia
Great Gobi B
Great Gobi A
Gobi Gurvan Saikhan

2. The Google Car



Here is the Google Car which was used for the coverage of Mongolia: A Toyota Tacoma.
There are 3 elements to rely on in No Move and Move.

- The Spare Wheel (Narrows down Mongolia to 4 zones)
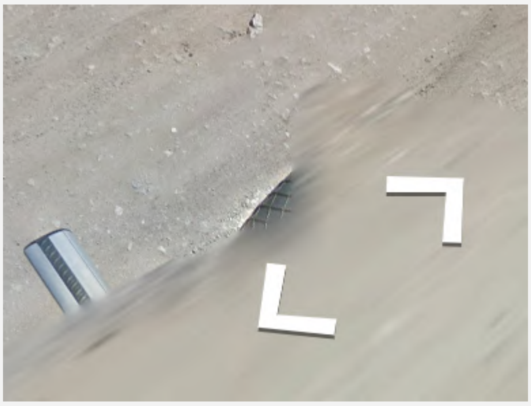
- The roof rack/bars (Narrows down Mongolia to approximately to 8 zones)
- The tent (Narrows down Mongolia to approximately 6 zones)

Obviously the three combined this can already narrow down your search area well .

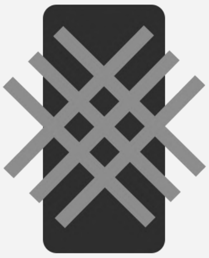
2.1. Spare tire

You only need to look at the rear right-hand side of the car to observe the spare tire.

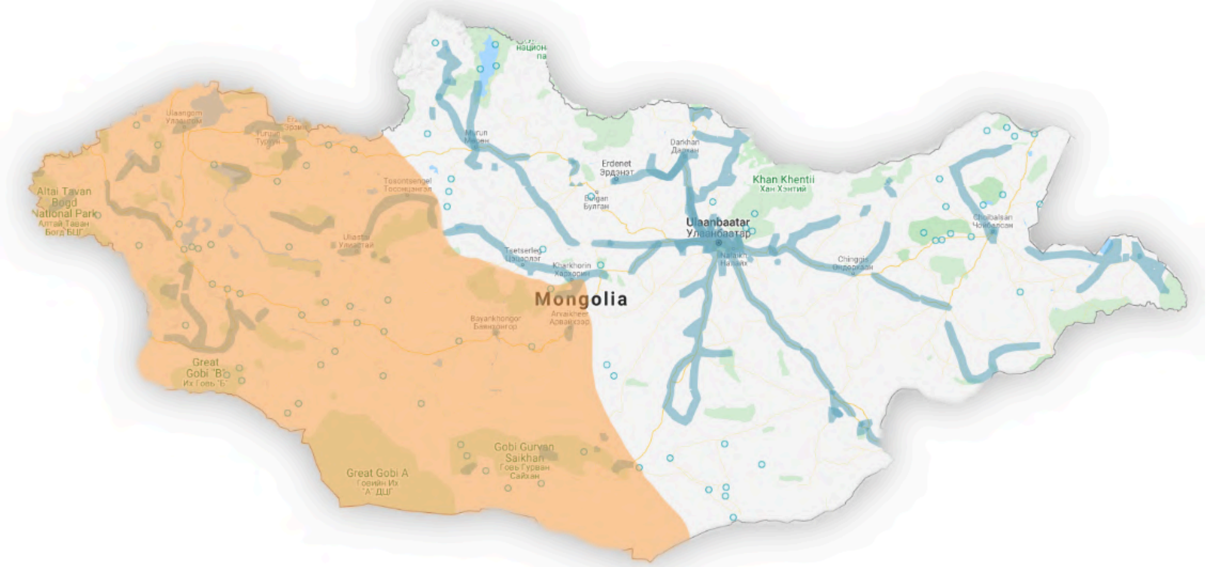
2.1.1. With a net



The presence of this symbol in the rest of this guide will indicate the presence of this meta.

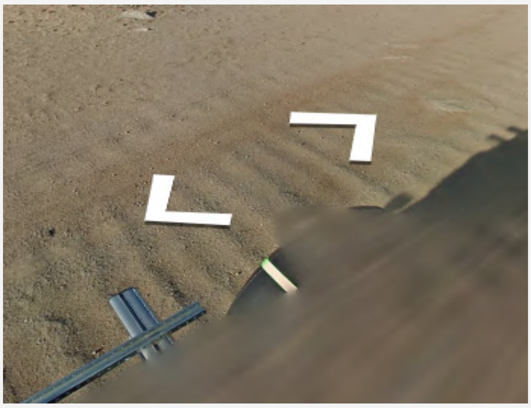


Below is the area where the net is found:

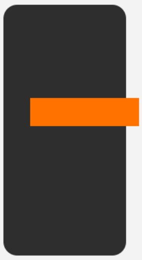


Mongolia
Ulaanbaatar
Khan Khentii
Erdenet
Darkhan
Bulgan
Tsetserleg
Kharkhorin
Bayankhongor
Arvaikheer
Choibalsan
Uliastai
Ulaangom
Tosontsengel
Murun
Altai Tavan Bogd National Park
Great Gobi B
Great Gobi A
Gobi Gurvan Saikhan

2.1.2. With Green / Orange Strip



The presence of this symbol in the rest of this guide will indicate the presence of this meta.



Tips

This should be taken with a grain of salt: (Brightness may mess with this).

- The Green strip can be found in zone 3, in the north zone of zone 1 and on the main road to the left of zone 2.
- The Orange strip can be found in the deserted part of zone 2 and south of zone 1.

Below is the area where the strip is found:

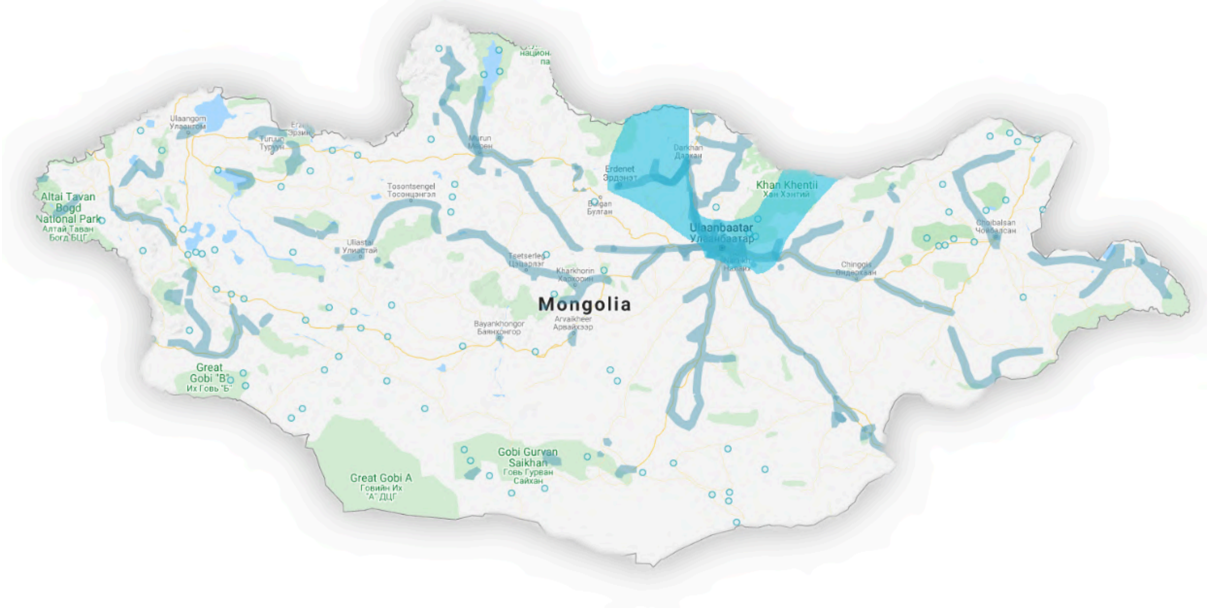
2.1.4. Without spare tire

The spare tire is not present around UlaanBaatar and Erdenet.

Caution 1
Around Ulaanbaatar, there can be a bit of all the metas for the spare tire.

Attention 2
The road which connects Ulaanbaatar to Erdenet is also rich in different meta, the only spare tire meta not present is the net.

Below is the area where we find these metas:



Ulaangom
Altai Tavan Bogd National Park

2.1.5. Conclusion and exercises

In conclusion, this first meta allows you to narrow down Mongolia to 4 zones.

Here are 4 challenges for practice. You do not need to find the exact place, just the right area using the spare tire meta (Nothing prevents you from using the diagrams above if you do not remember them anymore.):

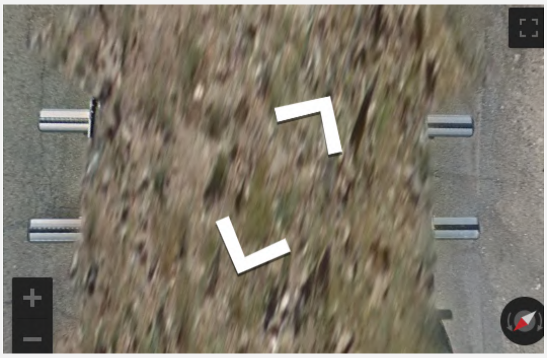
Well done !
You have just finished the first stage of your long adventure in Mongolia.
Feel free to run NM on Mongolia maps to train this meta :)

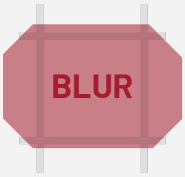
2.2. The roof rack/bars

The roof rack is a classic, from Ghana to Guatemala to Reunion, everyone knows about it. It also allows you to find Mongolia (along with the tent of course). At the end of this chapter, it will allow you to clutch in Mongolia, as these bars can sometimes limit you to very specific areas.

2.2.1. Blurred

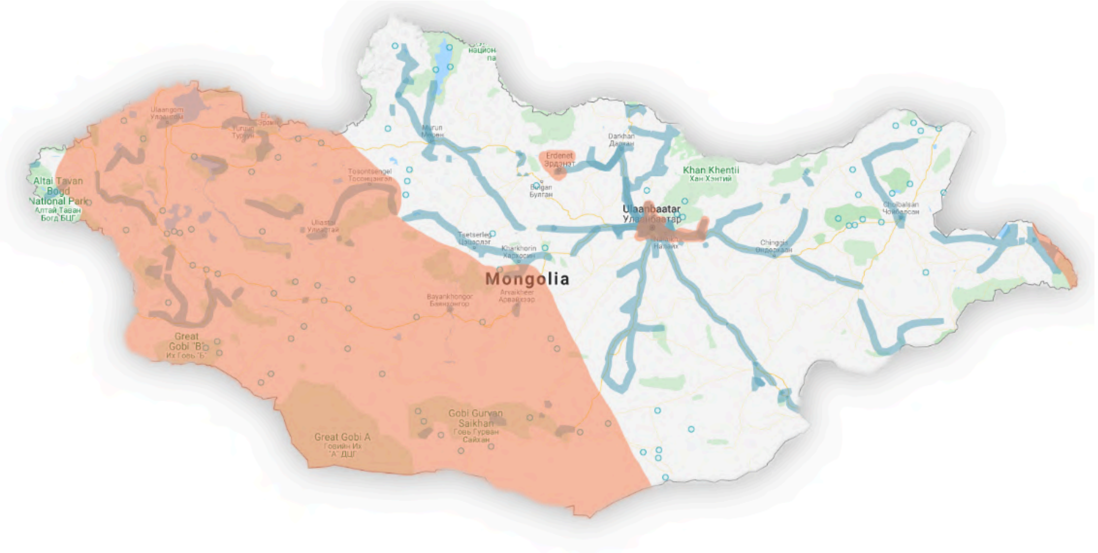


The presence of this symbol in the rest of this guide will indicate the presence of this meta.



Attention
In Ulaanbaatar, there can be a mix of all the meta for the roof rack/bars, even if a great majority of the time, we find this one. (And a little bit the 2.2.2 and 2.2.3).

Below is the area where we find this meta:



Mongolia

2.2.10. Conclusion and exercises

In conclusion, the roof racks/bars take a little longer to learn. But first, do not hesitate to learn the 4 main zones which are Orange, Green water, Fuchsia, and Blue. Secondly, integrate the others (that comes up less often).

For the following exercises, you don't need to find the exact location, just the right area using the roof rack/bar meta (Nothing prevents you from looking at the diagrams above if you can't remember them).

> Of course, do not hesitate to use the spare tire meta that you have learned.

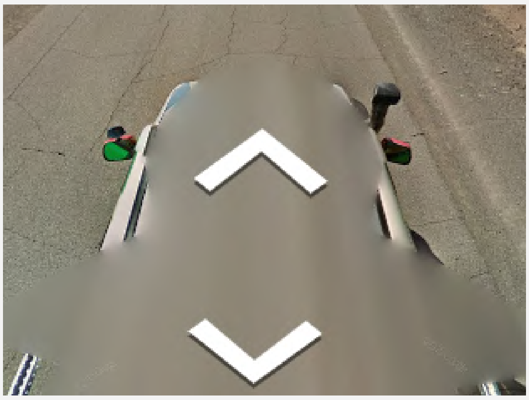
Well done !
You just finished the second step.
Feel free to run NM on Mongolia maps to train this meta :))

2.3. The tent

There aren't many hotels in the middle of the steppes. This is why the tent is very common.

2.3.1. No tent



The presence of this symbol in the rest of this guide will indicate the presence of this meta.

■

Caution
The tent looks mostly bluish in the area below, but the boundary between what I call the "gray tent" and "blue tent" is sometimes very difficult to differentiate (see 2.3.5). Use at your own risk, as this meta depends on the brightness of the location.

2.3.7. Conclusion and exercises

In conclusion, the roof rack/bars meta takes a little longer to understand when the tent is included. But first, do not hesitate to learn the 4 main zones indicated in Orange, Aqua Green, Fuchsia, and Blue. Secondly, integrate the others (that come up less often).

For the following exercises, you don't need to find the exact spot, just the right area using the tent meta (Nothing prevents you from taking advantage of the diagrams above if you don't remember them).

Of course do not hesitate to mix with what you learned with the spare tire and the roof rack/bar meta :)

The hardest part is done!!

You have just completed the third step, and can now find where you are in very specific areas of Mongolia. The following chapters will allow you to further refine your zones depending on the weather, the landscape, but also other small meta.

Personally, I started to play a lot of games with these metas and I learned to differentiate between landscapes and weather as I went along.

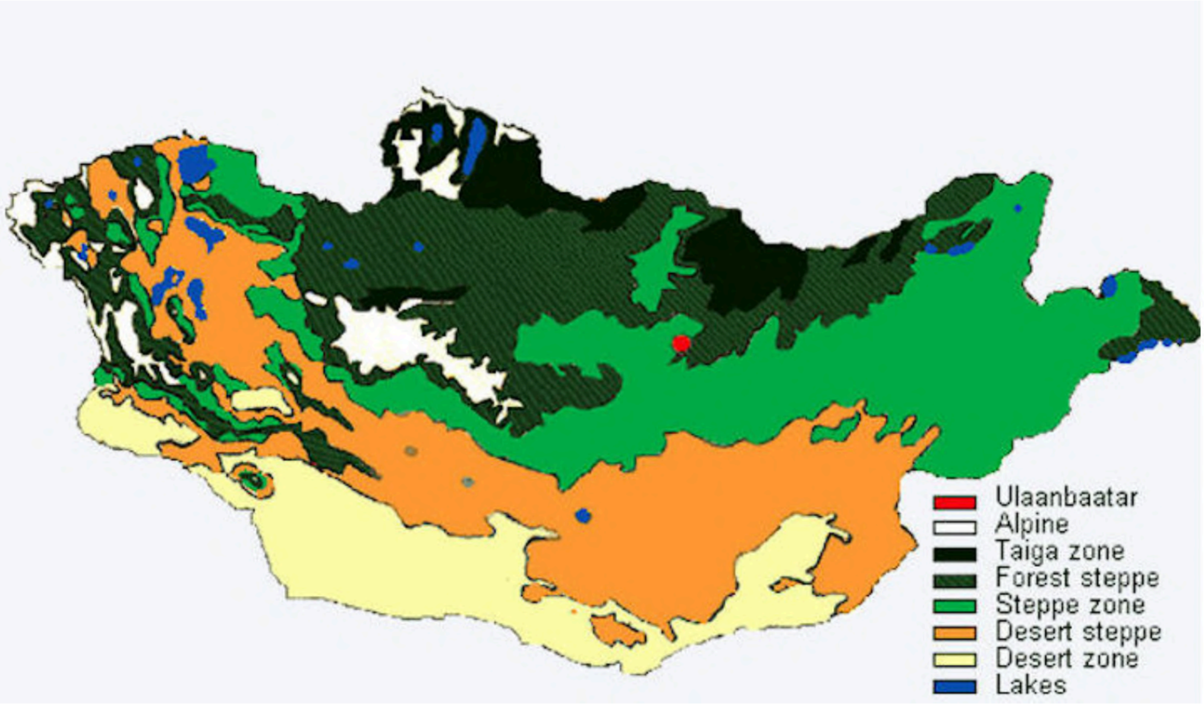
Do not hesitate to play NM on Mongolia maps to train this meta :)

3. Biomes / Weather / Landscapes

3.1. The biomes

I will approach the zones in a non-exhaustive way. Also, I won't go into biomes in the strict sense. Some areas are taiga, but I will differentiate the taiga photographed in the summer and the taiga photographed in the winter. But above all, I rely on the streetview coverage.

In order to introduce quickly, here is a map below that I find generally up to date!



Ulaanbaatar

Taiga zone
Forest steppe
Steppe zone
Desert steppe

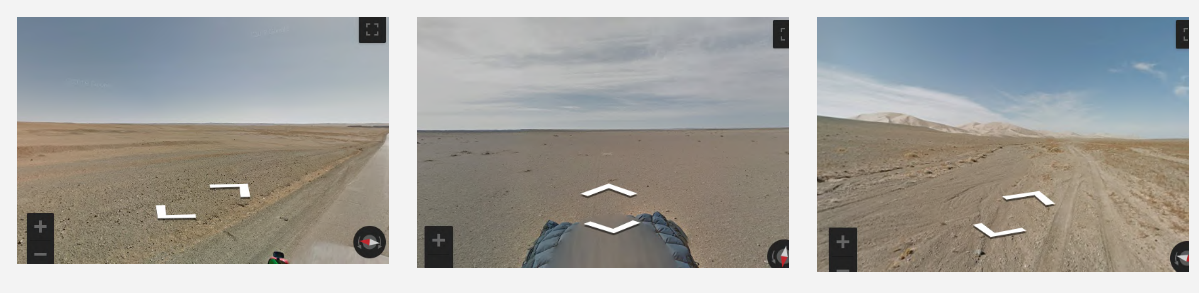
Warning
I am far from being an expert, but I will introduce you to the way I interpret biomes. So there may be errors.

3.1.1. Desert



There is a part in the desert section that includes part of desert steppe (but as the streetview cover was made in winter, the grass is yellowed.

A first step towards expertise

We continue with metas that are anchored in reality. They are very useful for allowing you to play NMPZ more easily.

3.2. "Weather"

Weather is an important word. At the beginning of my apprenticeship in Mongolia, I studied the areas a lot by their weather. What is really interesting about Mongolia is that it is often sunny, so there is not too much street view coverage where it is cloudy/rainy. It is not for nothing that Mongolia is called the land of the eternal blue sky.

3.2.1 Sunset zone

It is important to know that in Ulaanbaatar there are several sunsets. But I will go into further detail on that in the chapter dedicated to Ulaanbaatar.

🌅 I will use this symbol when I approach cities with a sunset.

This chapter is one of the shortest, but it is mainly to add a little more knowledge to narrowing down an area.

3.3. The landscapes

The landscapes are what allows you to find your way around the map.

3.3.1 Mountains

3.3.1.1. Southwest of Dalanzagdad.

There is a large mountain range with slightly snow-capped peaks.

The Hovd river begins in the Khurgan Lake. It is very recognizable, containing a little greenery on the banks, but otherwise a very desert steppe, positioned on the west side of the road.

This is not the river's official name, but it is not named on google maps, so I named it from the only point of interest in the area. We can not see it on the map, but a strong presence of conifers surrounding it suggests that is where we are. So if you have something similar to the images below, it's probably here.

3.3.3.7. Conclusion

Here is 1 challenge to train yourself:

- https://www.geoguessr.com/challenge/2t7H3Z0MTADkC8ES

Well done!

You have completed the last chapter on landscapes. All that remains is to face urbanization.

3.3.4 Conclusion

Here are 3 challenges to train you on the whole chapter:

- https://www.geoguessr.com/challenge/sXp0dRl81UlYxEzY
- https://www.geoguessr.com/challenge/ChrIK1LLmnlNRBtj
- https://www.geoguessr.com/challenge/htbWw6Yz6q6MlXvq

You go so fast! Congratulations!!!

It's great to have come this far. (I might have already given up on my side, page 63 and we still don't see the end)
A bit of a longer chapter, but very useful, and will help you get by in most situations, especially in NMPZ.
Cheer up! You only have one step left to obtain your diploma in knowledge of Mongolian territories.

4. The main cities

Here, I put the main cities that often come up in the official geoguessr maps and that of Mapper. It is obviously advisable to know the Google Car and its metas to approach this chapter.

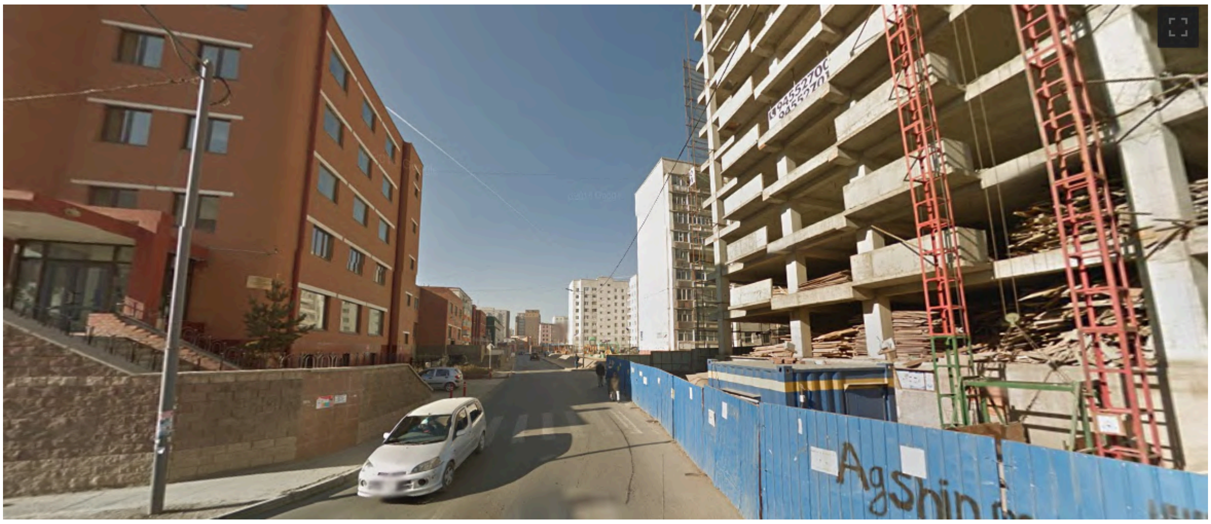
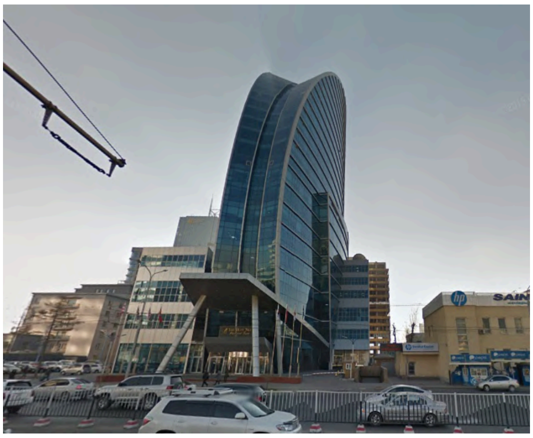
Certain names on the cities of the Google Map are clearly not the correct ones. I will write the name of the city Google contains first and add the real name in brackets. (In case Google corrects the wrong name.)

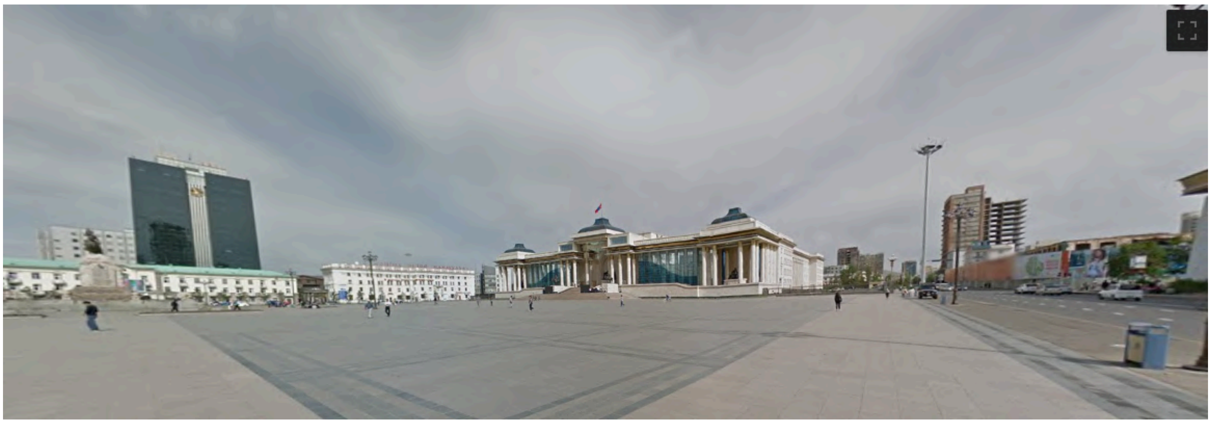
4.1. Ulaanbaatar

Capital of Mongolia. Everyone usually knows about it already.



It is overall sunny across the entire Streetview. Some areas still have a Cloudy Streetview, which can be confused with Erdenet.





The Blue Sky Tower and Sukhbaatar Square.
You can't miss them, it's in the center of town.

Here are some landmarks.
(I know a lot more, but maybe I'll update the document someday. I still have all the cities to do)

Coal-fired power plants.
There are two:
The first is to the far west of town.

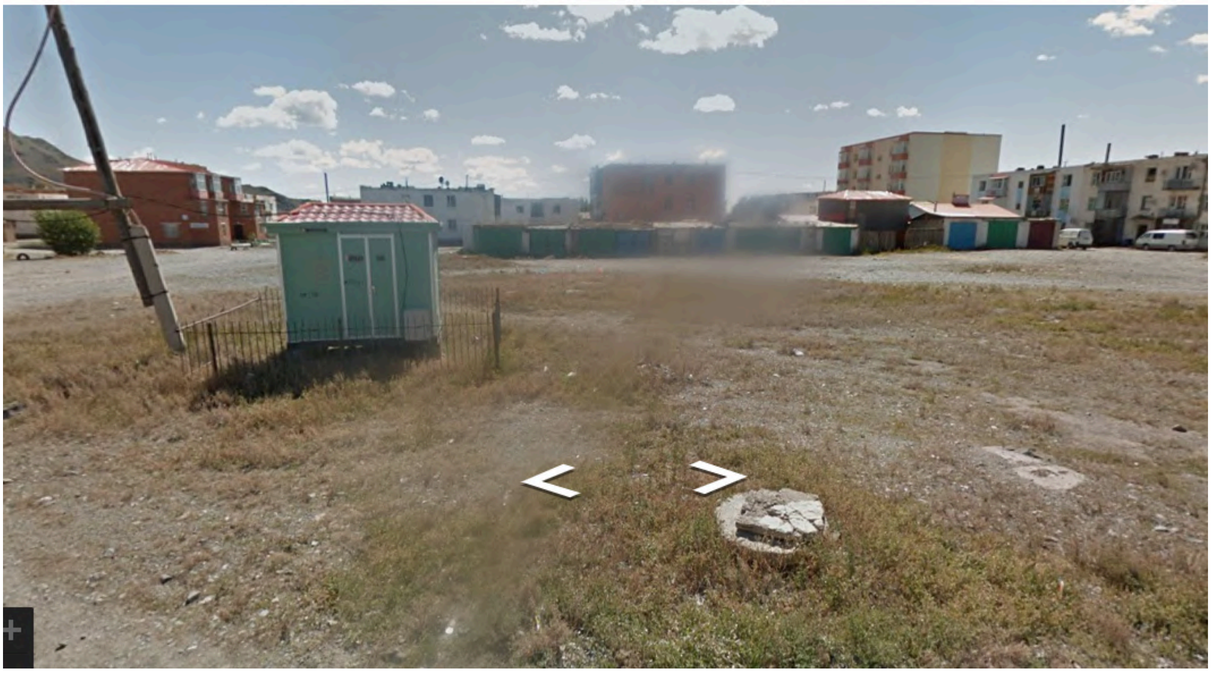
There is this hill in the center west of the city. It is visible from the whole city (unless hidden by a building).



There is a blurry spot on the right of the vehicle.

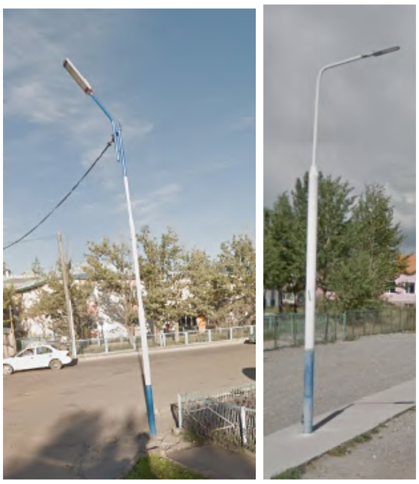
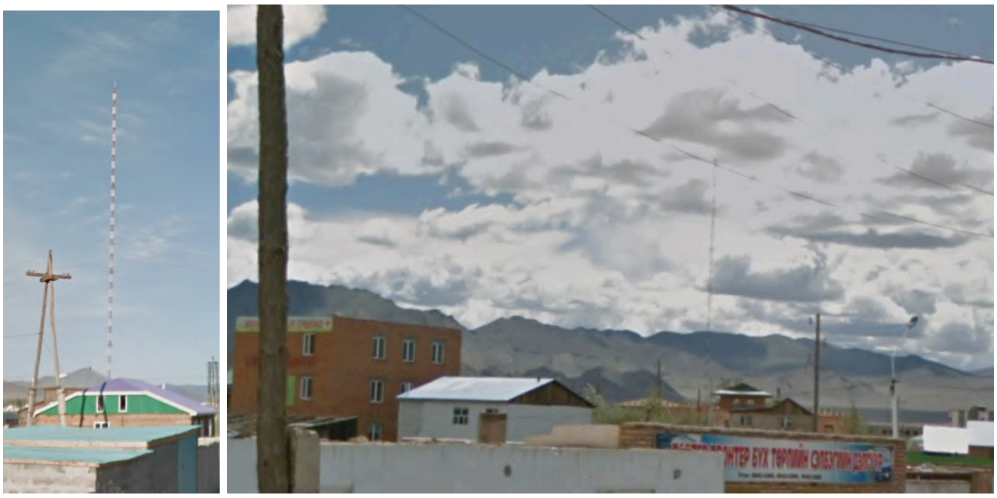
There is sun and a few clouds in the coverage for this city. There are also mountains that surround the city, and very dry (a little sandy) earth on the sidewalks.

This is the main town square.



These are the streetlights. The first one is rather unique, and I don't think I have seen it anywhere else.



We also find this large antenna, which can be seen practically from all over the city.

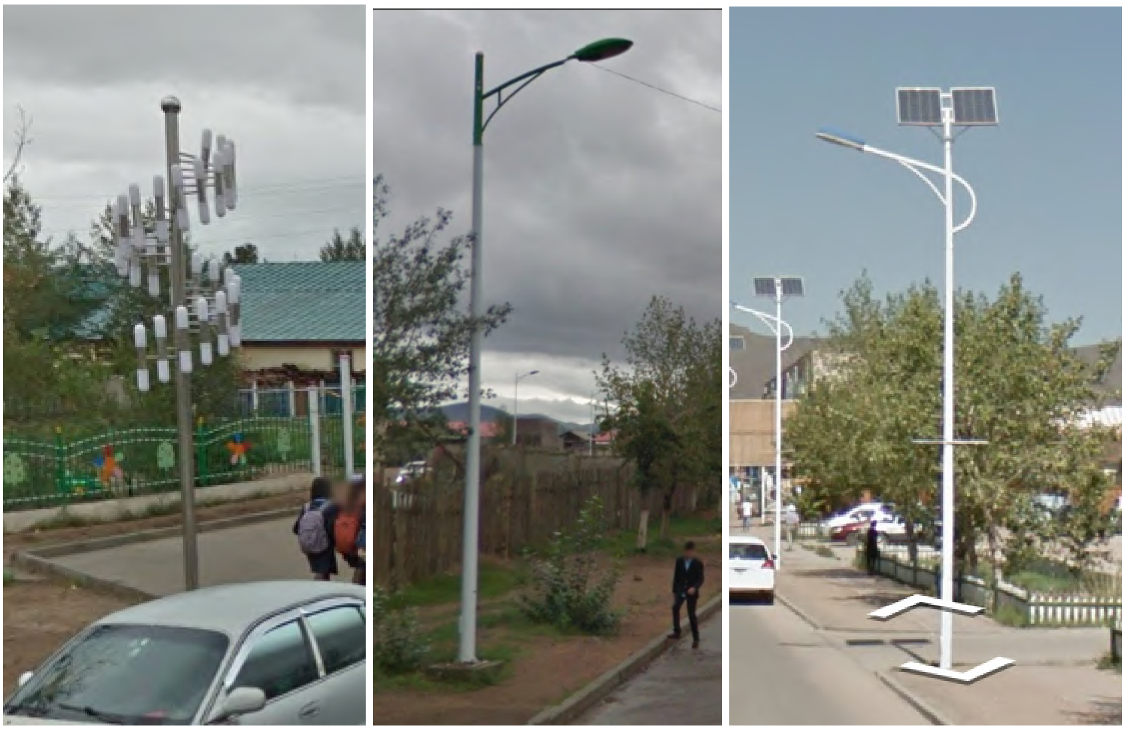
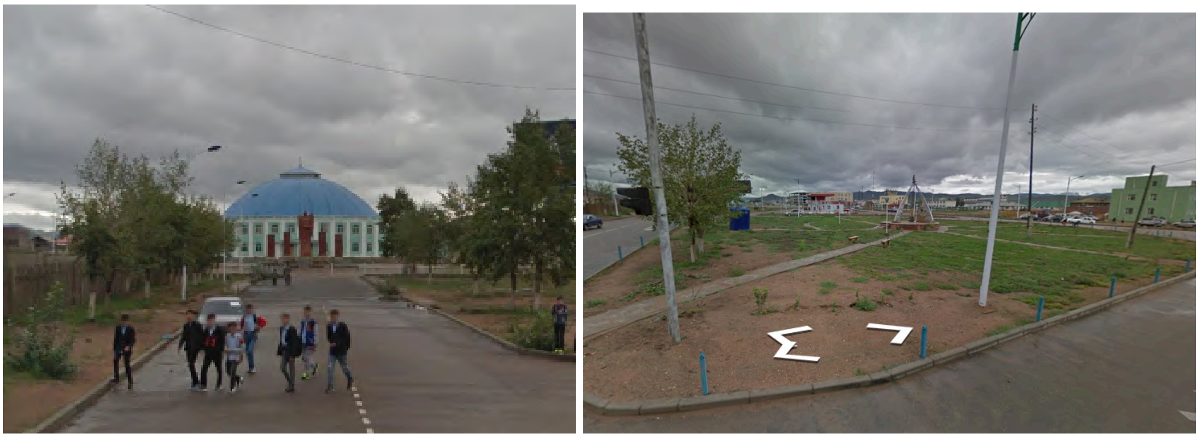
There are two types of coverage, one with cloudy weather and the other with a sunset. The city is surrounded by rather distant mountains, and there are two roads that have markings on the ground including the several dotted lines. (this also exists in Tsetserleg, but the surrounding landscape makes it possible to differentiate them)



We find these streetlights in this town. The first and the last examples are unique to here.



On the main road next to the roundabout we have the Mongolian wrestling stadium. The second picture is right next to the main town roundabout.

Attention
This is not to be confused with Baganuur, Gachuurt, and eastern Ulaanbaatar, which have fairly similar coverage when it comes to appearance.

The streetlights:

 You can find these mainly in the north of the city (newer)	 You can find these mainly in the south of town (older) where there are more shops.

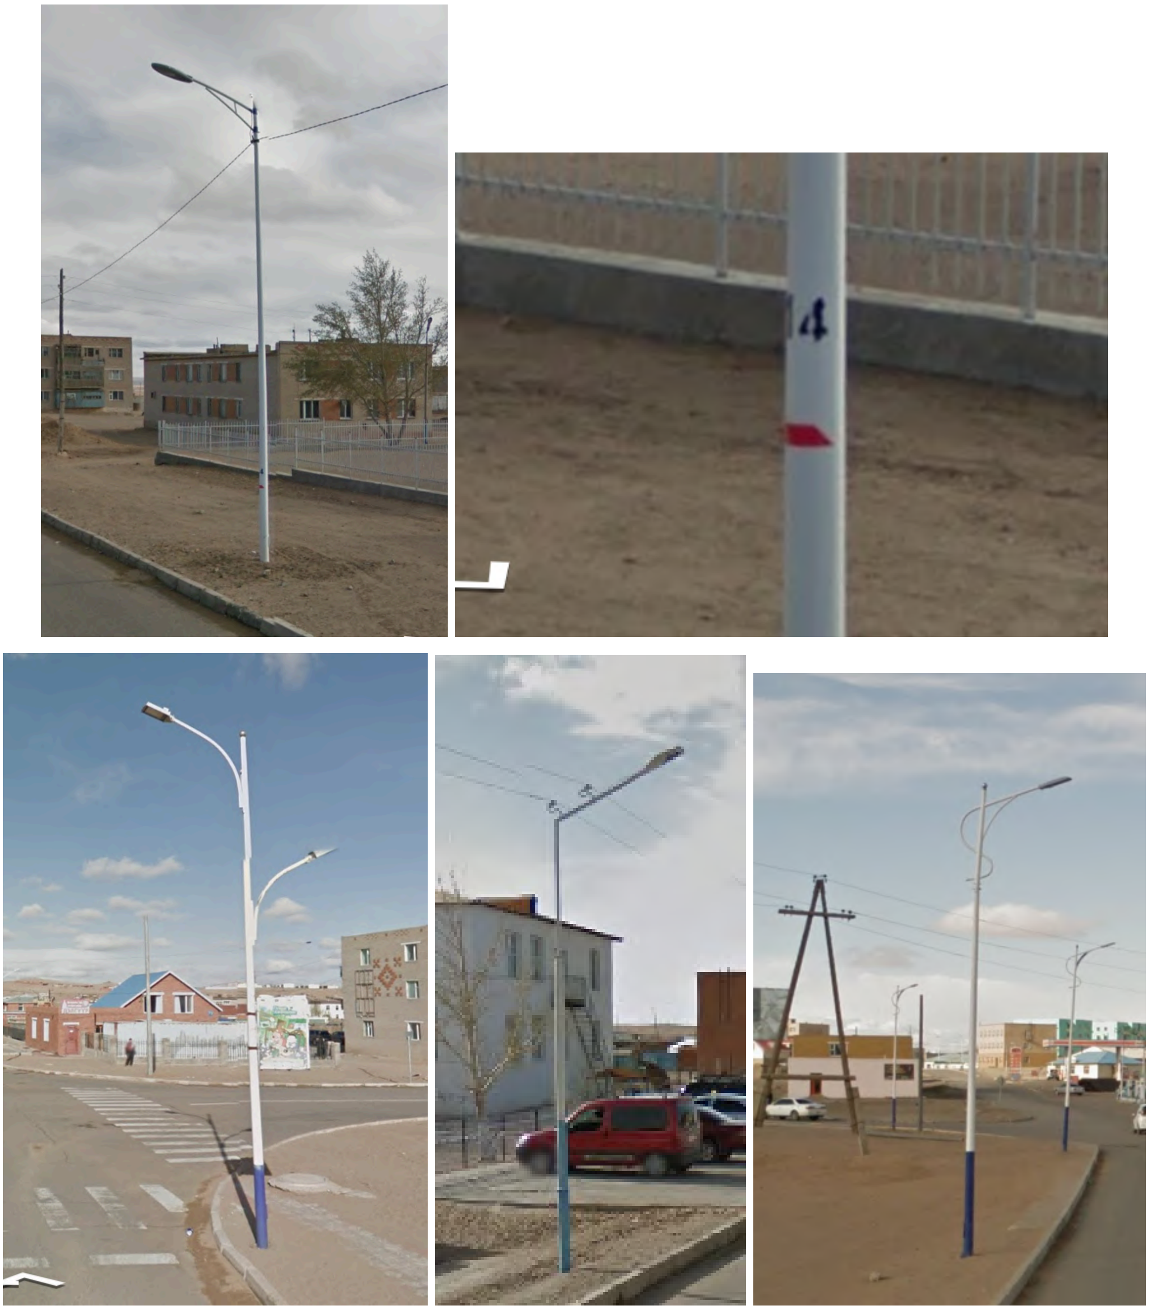
This town is slightly cloudy, with asphalt roads, and a desert-like area. There are not too many landmarks besides this big pink building, which is a theatre.



The streetlights here have many attributes from other cities, so you shouldn't base your guess on that unles you can see that on each street there are different types of streetlights.

Attention
Personally, I often confuse this city with the cities on the road between Ulaanbaatar and Zamiin-Uud. It is important to note Mandalgovi occurs less often than the aforementioned cities.

Gobi Gurvan Saikhan
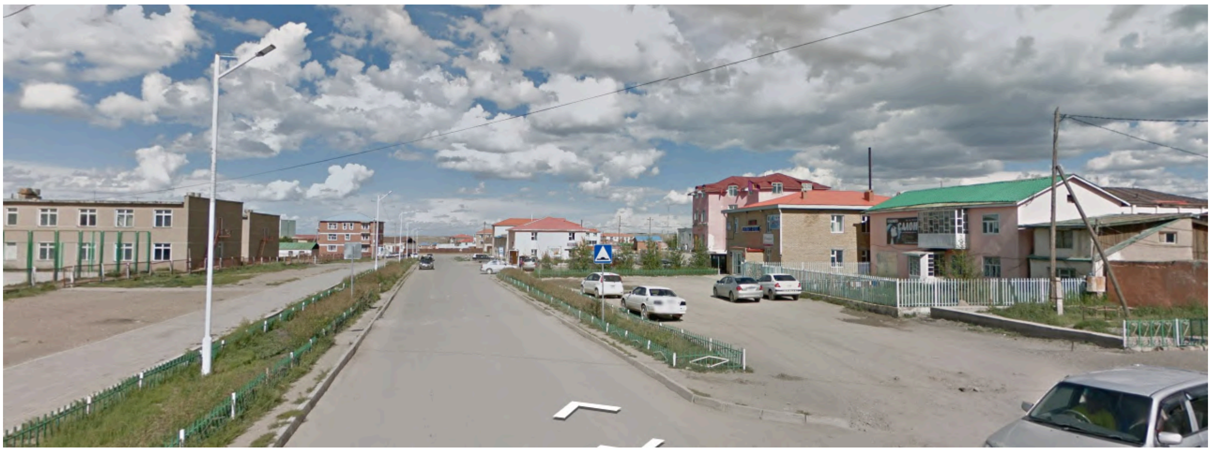
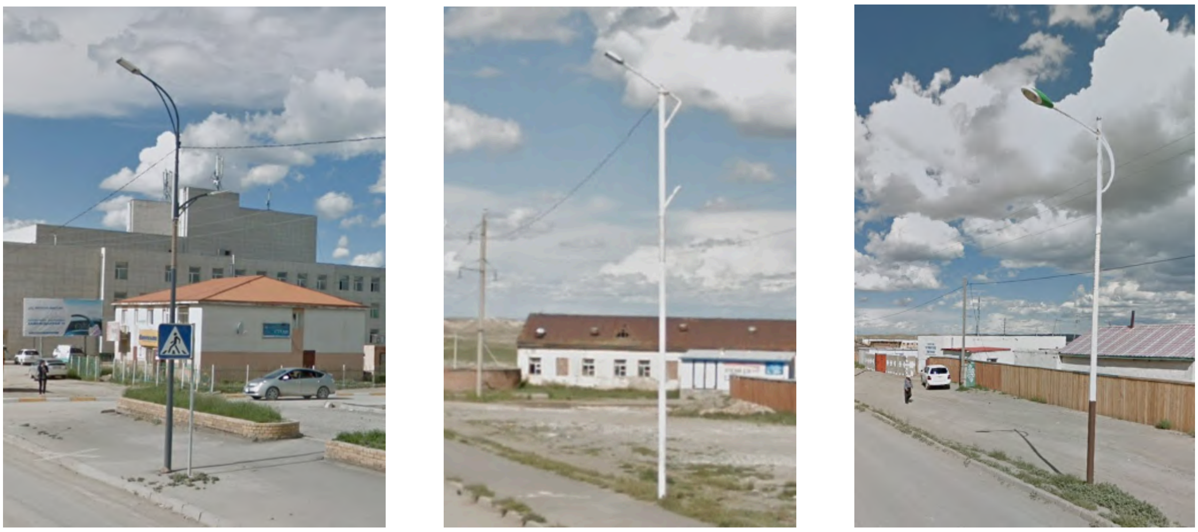
Говь Гурван Сайхан



This is a rather large city. You can find mountains in the south, with partly cloudy coverage, and asphalt roads.

The streetlights:



These are the most common streetlights. The first two are unique to this city.

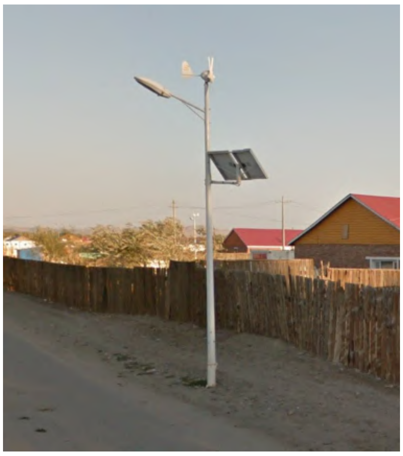
The first thing I use to memorize this city is: "It looks like these mountains are in the garden". The village has sunset coverage and mountains to the north.



There are solar panels in the streetlights.

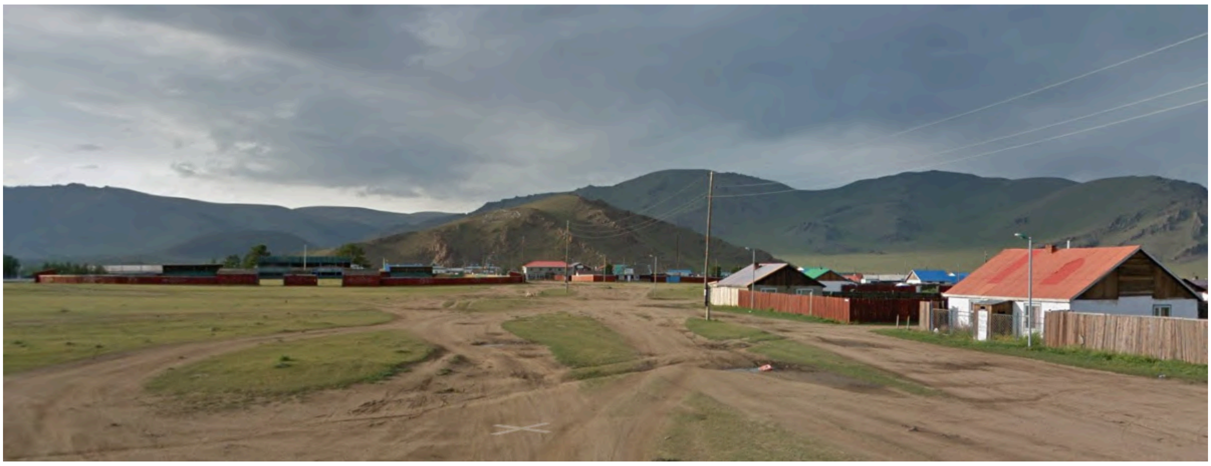
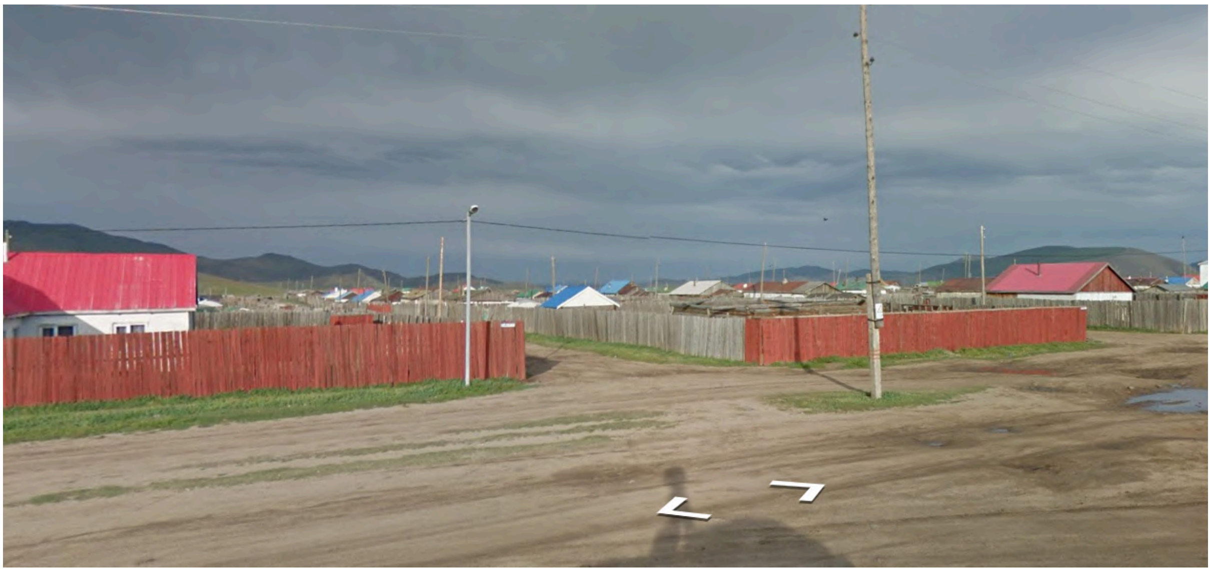
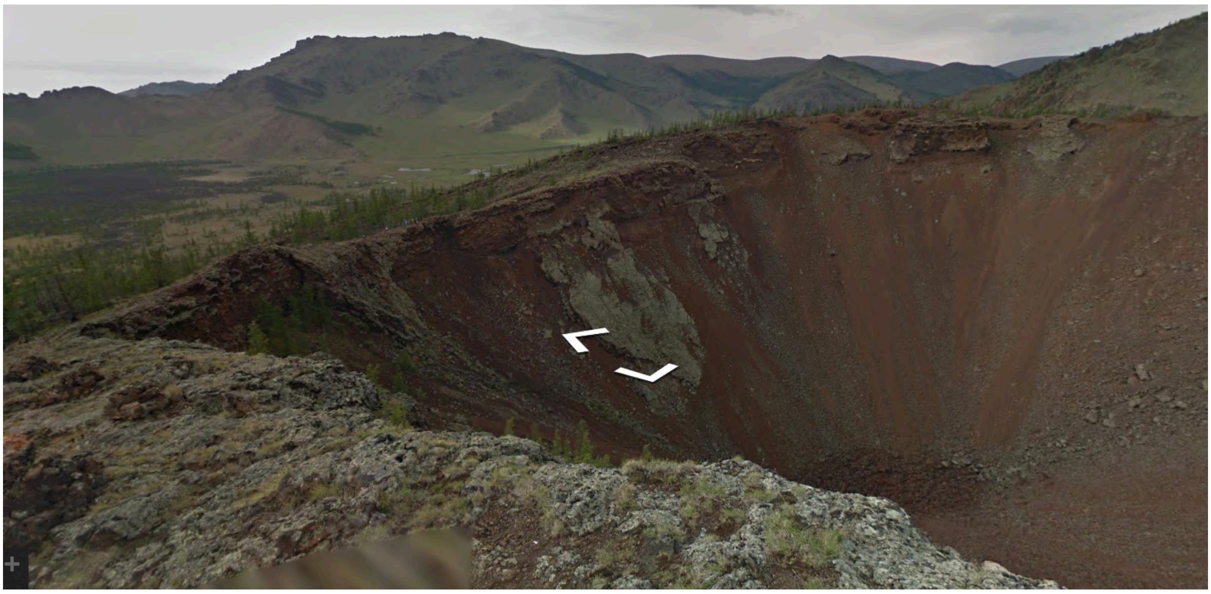
This first image is from the coverage of the road that passes in front of Khorgo. The coverage contains mostly sunny weather, with a few puddles, as well as mountains around the town.





These two images come from the coverage inside the city, which shows a small mountain to the north and a very grim sky in the east.



It is important to note the ancient volcano northwest of the city, which is located in the Khorgo Mountain.

6. Conclusion

Diploma in Knowledge of Mongolian Territories Obtained!

Now you can tell your friends and family that you know Mongolia as well as Genghis Khan. It is also time for you to put down your yurt and dream a little! A well deserved rest!

Thank you for going through this document. I hope I have taught you many things. Do not hesitate to send me a private message on Discord, showing me your exploits, that would make me happy.

In the practice, I did not include all the tourist locations, but you will learn them by playing.

Congratulations and good luck!

Note from Dylan2Dank, translator.

It was my pleasure to translate this document from French to English, and I would just like to thank Kommu on behalf of the entire GeoGuessr community for taking the time to put it together in the first place, along with many other ventures he's taken up to make the GeoGuessr community better. I did not translate the document verbatim, because there were many phrases that didn't really make sense in english, like for example the last line of the conclusion originally read Bonne continuation, which quite literally means "good continuation", when in reality the proper english translation is "congratulations and good luck" or alternatively "keep up the good work". Regardless, the original meaning behind the words of this document were kept intact, and I hope anyone who dares read this all (I'm looking at you matepotato), is helped by it.

Peace out, and bonne continuation.
